Mr. and Mrs. Busch expected to attend the masquerade ball at the Germania last Saturday night, and their daughters were of course expected to accompany them. In the afternoon, however, Miss Edmie and Mrs. Busch. Weber went out, simply saying that they were going down town, and no one for a moment thought anything of their going. They were away during the afternoon, but were expected back when night began to come on, still they did not return, and when the dinner hour arrived and they had not come back Mrs. Busch spoke of their absence to her husband, and she sent messengers to the houses of their friends to know if they were visiting somewhere in the neighborhood. About four months ago Mr. Reisinger came to St. Louis and found the same hospitable welcome at the Busch home that he had always met. His place was waiting for him and his presence seemed as agreeable to the members of the family, who liked him well, as it had in the past. It was then that he and Miss Edmie determined that in spite of all opposition they would marry, but there no open disrespect of the parents' wishes then. The Supposed Elopement of Mother Alexis

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 10 .- It was annou a few days ago that one of the Sisters of ity in charge of the Mon-Street Catholic Orphan Asylum had descried her post and was missing. Little was thought of the matter, as no name was given. It is now learned that the missing woman is Mother Alevis, for six years past Superior of the Asylum in company with James Patterson, an old acqualtarize before she took the vell, when her name was Maggle Daly. Mother Alexis left one Sunday moraing when the chapel bell was ringing for mass and was clad only in light garments. She secreted herself in a shed until evening, when she escaped to the house of a friend. From there he sent a message to Patterson, who is well-to-do. He came at once with a horse and buggy and more suitable apparel, and they drove away together. They have not been heard from since.

together. They have not been heard from since.

For some months Sister Alexis has been sking permission to visit relatives in Kansand Colorado, which was denied, and she became irritated at the restraint put upon her actions. She is about 40 years of age. Patterson is a manufacturer of tinware, and is not a Catholic. There is much speculation as to whether he is playing the part of a lover, or merely that of a friend in need. The two had frequently met during the past fifteen years, and Sister Alexis always referred to him as her cousin, although they are not related. Sister Alexis took the veil in 1870. No.efforts to ascertain her whereabouts or secure her return have been or are likely to be made.

The meeting was held at the Cotton Exchange, and a constitution and by-laws were adopted and a committee report memoralizing Congress for an appropriation of $25,000 to establish an experimental station here for the benefit of the sugar industry was read. The purpose of the association as defined by experimental station here for the benefit of the augar industry was read. The nurpose of the association as defined by the law is to promote the culture and manufacture of sugar in this State, in whose sugarcane growing region a scientist stated today could be produced four times as much sugar as was necessary to supply the consumption of the United States, be city is also decyly interested in public improvements, there being now under contract several miles of street pavement of Bois d'Are and gravel and also several miles of sewerage.

morning the towboat Port Eads, Capt. Nason Davis, of the St. Louis & Mississippi Valley Transportation Co., sank at the site of the new railroad bridge, two miles below the city. She carried a crew of about forty men, and for a time the wildest rumors prevailed, the loss of life being placed at from twenty-five to thirty-five, but it is now believed that only one person, the colored chambermaid, was

The Port Eads had a tow of six grain-lader barges and one fuel barge, destined for New Orleans from Cairo. They passed the city shorily before 7 this morning, during a heavy fog, hussing the Tennessee shore closely. The steamer approached the bridge as slowly as possible, but owing to the dense fog, she was unable to locate the sunken pler. A moment later she was seen to stop suddenly, hang stationary for a minute and then swing around with heavy force and settle on one side. Men ran from every direction to the yawl, fighting each other in panic-stricken desperation to reach it. One man detached the ropes holding it and was about to climb in when water rushed in over the boat's deck, and all ran to the other side. Another wave closed over the deck and she settled lower. Boats put off from shore and succeeded in taking off the men, though this was difficult, as most of them were wild with desperation and could not be allowed to reach the boats. They would have jumped in in such numbers as to swamp them. The Eads was settling and by the time water was over the boiler deck on both sides the boats from shore had managed to get off every one from the sinking boat. Every one except the chambermaid. She was not seen and was forgotten in the confusion.

The boats had hardly got clear of the Ead when she went under, leaving only her pilot-Ten of the crew were taken to the United States Hospital near by, suffering from cuts and bruises, and the remainder were cared for

The Port Eads was valued at $50,000. The barges and contents are uninjured.

The Port Eads was at one time fitted out with the Wallace steam steering apparatus, but for some reason this was laid aside before the last trip of the unlucky boat. The inventors claim that if the boat had been supplied with this, notwithstanding the immense tow, the collision might have been avoided.

The Port Eads.

The Port Eads is owned by the St. Louis & Mississippi Valley Barge & Transportation Co., which has its office on Main and Wainut streets, under the Cotton Exchange. At about 8 o'clock this morning they received the following dispatch: MEMPHIS, Tenn.

At 7 o'clock this morning the Port Eads, with seven barges loaded with grain, struck the east pier of the new bridge and at once sunk. She is a total loss. Twelve lives saved. sunk. She is a total loss. Twelve lives saved. Cannot tell if any lives are lost. Agent has gone down with a ferryboat to render assistance, and will be followed immediately by the towboat Townsend to render additional assistance.

The Port Eads was built in 1882 for the river traffic and two years ago was thoroughly rebuilt on the ways at St. Louis. She was valued at $60,000. She was commanded by Nelson Davis, an old time river man, and her pilots were Gus Hiner and Mike Kelley, Jr. The other officers were: Mate, Mike Kelley, Ffrst Engineer, Christ Ansebutz; Second Engineer, John Murray, and Steward, John Edwardz.

to take a photograph of a young girl of about 20, who had died a few days before. The corpse was laid out upon a bed, with the hands clasped over the breast. Death had come very gently to her, and except for the stillness she lay there as if asleep. Some flowers had been strewn over the body, and flowers had been strewn over the body, and on the floor by the side of the bed and standing out in black relief against it was the coffin. The photographer silently adjusted the lens and took the photograph. During the ten minutes needed for the exposure the photographer paced up and down in the long corridor outside the room where the dead girl lay. When he returned he saw that on the lid of the coffin was a flower, which was not so before.

THE news of the Puritan-and-blackleg alliance between the Administration and lottery swindlers was exclusively given to the readers of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

WITH the indorsement of the business men and the reading public the position of the Post-Dispatch as the best advertising medium and newspaper in St. Louis is unquestioned.

THE prospect of Speaker REED becoming President of the United States will be bright when the people get tired of a republic and want a dietatorship. REED would make a daisy dictator.

THE want advertisers of yesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH got the beautiful pictures promised them; the want advertisers of a local imitator still have the beautiful promises made them.

FEBRUARY is usually the dull season for advertising, but there are no dull days in the life of a bright newspaper, and the pressure of advertising to-day compels us to begin the week with a ten-page paper.

Is St. Louis real estate a safe investent? The answer to this question is en in the record we published yesterday a transactions with profits in them, and St. Louis real estate is very far from having reached its full value.

THE report of the Kansas agricultural department shows that last year's corn erop of that State amounted to 273,888,321 bushels. But this enormous crop was the Eastern manufacturers, through the tariff taxes, took all the profit that the pooled railroads had left.

THE announcements that Mr. RANDALL will never appear in active life again, and must die in a short time, seem to be premature. The veteran Democrat is plucking up, and shows that he is as good a fighter in the sick-room as on the floor of the House. His party colleagues and his party opponents will welcome his return to active life.

PERHAPS the best way for the French authorities to treat the young Duo D'OR-LEANS would be to meet his bluff by permitting him to enlist in the army as a mon soldier. Thus he would be relegated to obscurity and would be subjected to wholesome work and discipline. He, at least, would not be dignified into the position of a patriotic martyr, as in the event of his imprisonment.

THE Fourth Pennsylvania District is about to elect a successor to Judge KELLEY, and, strange as it may seem, the indications are that his successor will be a tariff reformer, an advocate of free raw materials. This Philadelphia district is elved $700 votes more than were ever raw materials, and the prospect is that the Republican candidate will be beaten unless he takes the same stand, unequivocally.

THE ELECTION OF POSTMASTERS.

Some of the Republican Congressmen who are permitted to name pos for their districts have referred the selection to their Republican constituents. In majority vote decided in favor of Demowhere the Republican caucus permitted the women as well as Republican voters to deposit their ballots, the Democratic the Republican candidate. At Newtonville, Mass., where the voting was confined to persons who voted the Republican ticket at the last national election, the result was 172 for JOHN B. TURNER, the present Democratio Postmaster, 48 for one Republican candidate and 25 for an-

Such incidents show plainly that there would be no such thing as "a clean sweep" of the post-offices with every change of Federal administration, even if the selection of the postmaster were left to the local voters of the successful party. If left to the whole body of voters interested in the management of the local post-office, the postmasters would be more evenly divided with reference to party than they are now, the postoffices would be run upon a less partisan basis in most cases, the great diminution in Federal patronage would tend to purify politics, and the business of the Legislative and Executive branches of the Government would be relieved of what is now by saddling the infamy of a lottery on the a great and unnecessary burden. A simple statute directing the Postmas ter-General to appoint in every case the applicant to whose petition was appended a majority of the genuine signatures o voters residing within a certain radius of the post-office would do the business, and no amendment to the Constitution would be needed to permit its enforcement with the President's approval.

THE Sugar Trust was capitalized at three times the actual value of its property. In 1889 it paid 10 per cent dividends on this over-capitalization, and estimated its surplus earnings at 33 per cent of its nominal capital and 100 per cent of its actual capital. It did this while paying salaries of $100,000 each to three officials, $30,000 each THE New York politicians and the Chi- to six officials and $25,000 each to seven officials. Yet, in spite of all this. the trust's certificates have declined from to death's door. Its only hope of survival 126 to 50. The explanation is found in the charge that some of the high salaried men unloaded at high water mark. HAVE-MEYER, who put his refineries in and received $16,000,000 of certificates for $6,000,-000 worth of property, is said to have sold his certificates at such prices that he can now buy them back for half the money and retain a clear profit of $8,000,000 by the operation. Those who held on and are now denouncing him for "bearing" the stock will not get much sympathy from the public whom they were robbing.

MR. JOHN H. THOMAS, the millionaire manufacturer of Springfield, O., has been telling how the Democratic managers played a confidence game on him and induced him to spend $40,000 of his money in close counties to put BRICE in the Senate. He says that when applied secure a charter for the Louisiana gam. to for the money he asked whether BRICE would be a candidate for the Senate, and was assured that BRICE was giving nothing and would not be in the race. Upon this assurance, which he evidently regarded as a bill of sale of Democrats sent to the Legislature from the close counties, Mr. Thomas spent $40,000 on their election, only to find in the end that his money had gone to elect BRICE, who was the last and best bidder at the auction. But it is a mighty wicked auction which the goods to but one of them.

THE New York WORLD supports a bill now pending in the New York Legislature worth little to Kansas farmers because to compel all corporations in that State to pay their employes weekly. The merit of such a law is found in the fact that poor employes lose far more by having to wait for their pay than it would cost rich corporations to pay promptly. It is the compulsory waiting for his wages that makes the employe the plucked victim of the "company store." All attempts to regulate that form of robbery will be futile so long as wage payments can be deferred indefinitely. The proposed statute would be the most effective law yet devised to regulate the "company store" and secure the employe the full benefit of his wages.

> It now appears that Dakota was divided and the State of North Dakota created only to provide a "rotten borough" from which the Louisians Lottery might continue to put its money into politics after being expelled from Louisians. As its lease of life was almost ended and no Democratic State would prolong its preda tory existence, Boss Quay made a new home for it on the Canadian frontier, gave it two Senators and a Congressman to represent it at Washington, and at the same time secured to the Republican campaign fund a perennial and liberal contributor. The ascendency of plutocratic ideas is giving "boodle" a tremendou sway in our politics.

A rise in the price of glass abroad enables before cast for any man who ran against them to put prices up 20 per cent higher, KELLEY. Lately the manufacturers of the and to do this they meet in Pittsburg next district have taken a firm stand for free Monday. They are to be insured against any cut by confining the production of vindow glass to three large concerns, and paying a pro rata share of the earnings to the concerns that close and discharge their workmen. This is one of many illustrations of the protection which the tariff affords to workingmen.

In bringing suit to recover from certain gamblers in New York City $50,000 of the two of these cases the Republicans by a Glamorgan Iron Company's money, which the gamblers won from the comcratic incumbents. At Brattleboro, Vt., pany's treasurer, the Receiver of the company has made the New York Police loners co-defendants, on the ground that they permitted the gamblers Postmaster's vote was 467, against 401 for to carry on their business contrary to law and shared in the profits. A judgment against the Police Commissioners for the full amount involved in this case would be a salutary lesson to a number of Police Boards throughout the Union.

> POSTMASTER-GENERAL WANAMAKER IS right in the stand he has taken against the Louisiana Lottery, but there is reason to fear it will be meffectual. The lottery has followed his advice and his example by putting its money into politics. It took advantage of the Republican plan of campaign, just as he did, and captured QUAY and the State of North Dakota with the same sort of means WANAMAKER used in capturing QUAY and a Cabinet office. It now has so many anchors cast to the windward that "our beloved John" will hardly be able to move it from its firm position in the affections of his party.

THAT was an interesting revelation in vesterday's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH conperning the bargain existing between the Louisiana Lottery syndicate and the leaders of the Republican administration. It involved the appointment of WARMOTH and the securing of a charter for the lottery from the Legislature of North Dakota in return for campaign boodle. The consummation of this unboly compact will strip the party of high moral ideas of its last vestige of hypocritical pretensions. Even WANAMAKER will have to turn up his nose at lottery boodle.

THE Aberdeen outrage, according to the testimony of FANZ, the victim of it, resolves itself into a blow with a whip inflicted upon FANZ by a fellow workman. Fanz declares that he left Aberdeen voluntarily, that he was requested to remain and was offered ample protection, and that he is a Democrat. FANZ will hardly be called upon to testify before the Senate investigating committee, as his evidence would spoil all the impassioned Republican speeches which have been delivered.

In the exceedingly interesting report of the deal between the Republican managers and the Louisiana State Lottery which appeared exclusively in the Sunday Post-Dispatch yesterday a typographical error made the name Warmoth read Warmouth. One result of this error is that a stupid Monday morning paper which faked up this special and dated it from its "Washington Bureau," not only copied all the facts, but servilely copied the typographical error.

From the Boston Herald. Natural causes or circumstances, or, as has been suggested, government grants of rich nining lands, have made some Americans ex worship these men; in Germany they would by the reverence for birth; in Italy they would be disregarded; and in England they are defended, says the pectator, as people who are useful heir way. Their distinction in America is that they are kept before the nation as repri takes the money of both bidders and gives senting the popular ideal of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." Mr. Carnegie has sought to show in one of our popular, reviews that our millionaires can secure a place in the kingdom of heaven by their Javish use of oney in the way of great and splendid bene factions, but a greater authority than Mr his place than any one else, in his declaration that it is easier for a camel to pass through needle's eye than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven.

The attention of Senator Ingalis might be profitably called to a certain suit just filed in the Supreme Court of his own State. It re-lates to a town-site election held in the fail of 1888 in Grant County. The competing cities were Ulysses and Appomattox. There is no hint of secession about those names. They are loyal to the core. Still the brief in the Supreme Court recites that prominent citizens of Ulysses imported 150 male adults into Grant County and caused them to vote for Ulysses as the county seat. It is also charged that citizens of Ulysses paid a certain man $1,800 to hire seven other men with Winchester rifles, shotguns and revolvers to intimidate the supporters of Appointator at the polls on election day. By such methods as these Ulysses was success-

Wanamaker had never held an elective office. No more had bries. Wanamaker's connection with politics had been confined wholly to giving and raising money for campaign purposes. Mr. Brice, in addition to this, had conspicuously and fatally mismanaged a campaign. It was in recognition and reward of his services as a money-getter that Wanamaker was Postmaster-General. Brice asked and received the Ohio Senatorship for lota of claim to be considered a stateman or even a political leader. Both represent Plutoeracy—the money power in politics.

A Plutecratic Usurpation.

From the New York Times. Moreover, there is a growing feeling in the public mind that these arbitrary ways of securing and exercising political power are. with the Republicans, means to a sordid and corrupt and dangerous end. It is more and more recognized that the Republican party is swayed largely by the protected monop and that it is not ordinary partisan seal, but something worse, that exc something worse, that excites its leaders. For this reason abuses like those now practiced in the House will produce greater and will count for more when the day of reckoning comes.

The Second Beautiful Picture the "Sunda Pest-Dispatch" Will Give Its Want Adver

They came, they saw and they can paquiful picture away with them.

This was what happened to the "want" advertisers in to-day's SUNDAY POST-DIS-beautiful picture they will also get their "wants" filled, for everybody reads the SUNDAT POST-DISPATCH, which has long been voted the people's paper and the best Sunday paper in St. Louis and one that competent judges say pushes the great metropolitan dailies of New York hard in the journalistic race for first Pictures are one of the refining infini life and tend to make all those who have them brighter and happier. They help to make the smallest and most dingy room more hab-itable, for they help to take the mind of those who look at them to other and happier

The SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH is rejoiced to think that its effort in this direction has been appreciated, and this morning is more than pleased at the way its effort to please those who use its "want" columns is taken advantage of. Its statement that it would give a handsome picture, entitled "Faust and Marguerite," to all the "want" advertisers marguerite," to all the "want" advertisers of to-day, has been carried out, as all of its many "want" advertisers will testify.

This beautiful picture has been on exhibition in the window of the Post-Disparous all the week and has always had a crowd in front of it admiring its tender beauty. It is truly a beautiful picture and would be an ornament to any parior.

But this new plan does not stop with to-day's "want" advertisers. It is only the be-rinning of a new plan, and next Sunday, Feb-rary 18, the companion picture to that of to-day will be given to all the "want" advertisers in that day's Sunday Post-Disparch.

day will be given to all the "want" advertisers in that day's SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

The companion picture that will be given to "want" advertisers in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH of February 16 is entitled "Hamlet and Ophelia." It is another charming pictures and even better than its companion, given away to-day. In the foreground of the picture stands the ideality beautifully figure of Hamlet, one of Shakspeare's greatest creations. Ophelia is sitting by him holding his hand. In the background sit the King, Queen and others, and further back still is the stage, showing the murder of the late King. Ophelia's face is full of interest as Hamlet relates to her an account of this terrible deed. The costumes a full of interest as made and a full of the costumes account of this terrible deed. The costumes of all are fine and characteristic. The picture is a strong one and in every way does credit as strong one and in every way does credit

February 16.
A fact to be borne in mind by all who get these

A fact to be borne in mind by all who get these pictures is that they can get them framed at far below the usual price by the American Art Co., corner of Eighth and Pine. They will do the work in one of two atyles.

The first style is in 1½ inch oak. A handsome frame which only costs 90 cents for frame, framing, etc.

The second style is in white and silver and is very beautiful. This style costs $1.25, but with the frame goes a beautiful 1½-inch oak easel of time work manship. This easel is about five feet high and would be an ornament anywhere. where.

If you have a want, remember that you will get it filled and a beautiful ploture besides by putting it in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH of February 16.

Try it and see.

TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES IN THE OHIO BALLOT-BOX CASE

Russia—Proclamation Opening the Sloux Reservation—Bogus Bank Exami-ner—Secretary Tracy—Missouri Post-Offices—Nominations Sent to the Senate -Congressional Proceedings.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The House committee on the Ohio bailot-box forgery resumed its sessions this morning, and called Senator Stockbridge of Michigan to the stand. He was shown the forged papers, and denied having signed it or knowing anything about a ballot-box bill or contract. He added that the forged eignature of his name was not a good imitation of his true signature.

Senator McPherson of New Jersey, the next witness, said he had a number of occupations but had no bailot box industry among them. He also knew nothing of the forged paper and declared his signature a boil forgery, and a base one at that. The witness having referred to the ballot box matter as a conspiracy, and a base one at that. The witness having referred to the ballot box matter as a conspiracy. Gov. Foraker inquired if it would not acharte, but hastened instead to give it to the world, it might be regarded as a conspiracy. Gov. Foraker inquired if it would not acpend on the circumstances under which the paper had been procured and the apparent proof to support its character.

Senator McPherson replied that as the paper, if genuine, would degrade and ruin public men, they should have been consulted, when it was possible to do so by traveling four or five miles. His first impulse on reading the publication had been to have every man connected with it arrested within forty-gight hours.

Gov. Foraker: "Had not you better do that while of the Roylial service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Hospital service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Hospital service and Dr. Balche of the Marine Hosp

James W. O'Neal of Lebanon, O., testified as to a conversation he had with Mr. Halstead respecting the forgery when the letter said he was not the man between the milistones; that he was disposed to hang the paper up in the window so that everybody might see it. Witness was convinced that Mr. Halstead believed the paper to be genuine.

Representative Morey of Ohio testified that he isd told Mr. Halstead that he doubted the genuineness of James E. Campbell's signature. Mr. Halstead had insisted that the signature were all right and had shown him the photographic copy of the paper to convince him, besides referring to "contract 1,000" as an ably drawn document. The collateral facts, Mr. Haistead argued, established the genuineness of Campbell's signature. However, if it appeared otherwise his plain duty would be to make the truth known. In the end he convinced witness that the paper was genuine.

graph to the PORT-DISPATOR. HINGTON, D. C., Feb. 10.-Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—It was generally believed that Capt. Catlett, the man nominated for Postmaster at Hannibal, Mo., would be confirmed without any opposition. The friends of the former, however, are now convinced to the contrary. The Democratic Postmaster at Hannibal, Mr. Nichols, who is a great friend of Representative Hatch, was removed two years prior to the expiration of his term. The Republican who preceded him was permitted by President Cleveland to serve his time out. Mr. Nichols would nave been allowed to do the same thing had is not been for a Postform of the subordinete, who recommended that he be changed because of his dividing a salary in payment for post-office instruction for one of his subordinete. Lazarus, "Margaret Meadows," "Dr. Austin's Guesta" and "Shirley Hall Asylum." Perhaps a book for boys deserves an immortality which mohe of them may achieve; that is, "King George's Middy." The most ambitious was one on "Lucrezia Borgia," which proved that writing history was not William Gilbert's forte. The qualities for which his well-known son, W. S. Gilbert, is celebrated were marked in him. He wrote of himself, with perfect truth, that he had "a keen sense of the ridiculous." and that "to avoid the painful, I often find myself seeking shelter in the ridiculous." Few of the men who were buried in the crypt of Salisbury Cathedral were more painstaking in their generation than William Gilbert, the last person, we believe, who is to be interred there. His works number upwards of twenty-five, and though he died at a great age, he had not lost hope of adding to their number. Happily for his fame, he did not live to write what no admirer could read, and happily also for it his son continues the best traditions of his father as a man of letters.

MYSTERY OF A PHOTOGRAPH. Second Picture of a Corpse Make

A well-known photographer will wouch fo tograph of a young giri of about 20, who had died a few days before. The corpse was laid out upon a bed with the hands clasped over the breast. Death had come very gently to her, and except for the stillness, she lay there as if in sleep. Some flowers had been strewn as if in sleep. Some flowers had been strewn over the body, and on the floor by the side of the bed, and standing out in black relief against it was the coffin.

The photographer aliently adjusted his lens and took the photographe, During the ten minutes needed for the exposure the photographer pased up and down the long corridor outside the room where the dead girl lay. When he returned he saw on the lid of the coffin a flower, which was not there before. How did that flower come there? No one had entered the room, the windows were closed, and there was not a breath of air stirring. Why was the flower now lying on the coffin when a few minutes before it was on the bed between the hands of the corpse? The photographer listened, but he could hear no sound except the beating of his own heart. In a few minutes, however, he determined to dismiss the question from his mind, and busied himself with packing up his instrument.

in spite of it to save time and legs in the big buildings of the city.

A well-known lawyer, who has a very level head at most times, admits that his bead feels empty when the elevator starts down, but claims to have discovered a very simple mechanical trick by which he avoids the allogone feeling. He is willing to have it suggested to his fellow mortals anonymously and in no other way.

"I take a long breath," he said, "just as I step on the elevator, and hold it with a tight pressure. Then, just as the elevator begins to sink, Het it out exactly with the motion of the car. The quicker the car starts the quicker and harder I press out the air, and I don't feel as though my soul had flown out of my coliar; in fact, I can avoid the least disagreeable sensation."

Another gentleman who tried the experiment vouched for the results in his case. "Don't imagine that you have to blow so that everybody else in the car can hear you," he said. "All you need to do is to hold the breath tightly and let it go noiselessiy out the nose. I think the sensation is due to the sudden change of pressure of blood in the heart and head, and the compression of air in the breathing organs offsets that pressure by reaction when the car starts."

Board of Public School 6s, called for redemption March 2, 1890: The Fourth National Bank of St. Louis will pay above bonds in cash on March 2; provided said bonds are deposited with said bank on or before February 27, aid holders thereby saving express charges to New York. L. A. COQUARD, 124 N. 3d st. MONEY. Following is a detailed statement (given in 1.000 bu) of stocks wheat and corn in store at principal markets: NEW YORK, Feb. 10, 11 a. m.—The stock market this morning, though narrow, was active and weak with wide fluctuations, however, only in two stocks. The opening prices as compared with the flust signess of Saturday were from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent lower, and further losses were sustained over the entire list in the early dealings. Book Island and ugar again became the weak features, each losing 1½ per cent, though the drop in Sugar recovered from 59½ to 50%, but failed to hold all of the rally. Reading was also active, but fluctuated within the same narrow limits as the remainder of the list in which the range of prices was generally about $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Celorado Così was inclined to advance in the first few minutes but gave way later. The market was less active to ward the end of the hour, and at 11 o clock was quite. Afterroon Curb.

Chicago Market Letter.

Special to J. C. Ewald.

CHICAGO. Feb. 10.—The wheat market was inactive and without interesting features. Sales on the curb before the opening indicated rather a week feeling among the traders, but the firmer cables and a prospect for rather larger decrease than has been auticipated gave a firmer cables and Hutchinson's sales, amounting the best of the decided after opening to the regular market. The decided after opening to the regular market. The decided after opening to the regular market. The burling on the but, readily broke prices in the sales of the prices of the sales of the prices of the sales of the prices of the pric came out indicating a crop of about 7,000,000 bales and at once atimulated New York Intures, which closed at 116913 points advance over Saturday. Spoul in the latter market were steady at 1-16e advance. Southern markets were steady and firm. Escelpts at the ports were less than last week and last year for same time. The local market weak and last year for same time. The local market weak and last with quotations marked up 1-16e. Sales

The prices, or rather lack of prices, on goods in every department of the great Broadway Baraar brought the fair sex in multitudes to Crawford's to-day. They all know where to go for bargains, whether they want them in house-furnishings, fabric goods, notions, cloaks or suits. One dollar goes as far as two will go anywhere else if it is spent at Crawford's and the ladies have proved the truth of the fact.

In the Baptist ministers' meeting, Wm. H. Williams, editor of the Central Baptist, read a paper on the Espisite to the Galatians. The espisite, he said, was written in the first part of Paul's third missionary tour and while he was in Ephesus. The year was 56. In 50 the Episite to the Romans was written. tion. The essayist alcoussed the epissels and the doctrine. His paper was discussed at considerable length.

The Methodist ministers listened to a paper by a colored preacher, Rev. Geiger, on the "Fraits of Emancipation." His paper was hopeful and his fruits appetizing. A discussion arose when he had finished, over Senator Butler's deportation bill. Bishop Bowman, who has recently traveled in the South, was of the opinion that the race problem was working itself out and that nothing would be done to deprive the negro of his political rights. Rev. Masden took the same view, while Rev. J. W. Jackson, a colored minister, took a much gloomier view of the situation. The discussion occupied the ministers three-quarters of an hour longer than usual. A resolution was passed thanking Bishop Bowman for his semi-centennial sermon of yesterday.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Michael F. Lyons' Mysterious Disappea ance a Fortnight Ago.

Michael F. Lyons has disappeared from his relatives as effectually as if he had suddenly been transported to another sphere. He has dropped completely out of existence in regard been transported to another sphere. He has dropped completely out of existence in regard to his home life and his folks are unable to obtain any trace whatever of his present whereabouts. In view of his sudden disappearance it is feared that he is the victim of foul play.

Two weeks ago last Friday, January 31, Lyons went home from his work as usual. He was a blacksmith. He ate his supper and said he was going down to see his mother who lives at 142 North Twenty-second street, in the block below his residence, which is 1439 Cleary street. On the way down Cass avenue he met his mother and they had a little chat. He then left her, saying that he was going down town for a little while. That is the last they have seen of him. He had $145 on his person when he left the house and his relatives fear that some one has made away with him to get the money.

His mother was seen this morning by a Post-Disparch reporter. She said that Michael was not a drinking man, although he took a glass of beer once in a while, but she had never seen him under the luffuence of liquor. He is a widower, having lost his wife some time ago, and has lately been living on Cleary street with his sister, who has been keeping house for him. He has one child, a little boy. He has no relatives in the United States besides those who live in St.

house for him. He has one child, a little boy. He has no relatives in the United States besides those who live in St. Louis, and they say they know of no trouble which would cause him to leave the city. The only theory they can advance is that of foul play, and they believe that he has been murdered and his body hidden in some out of the way place. He was always kind and pleasant, agreeable and appeared to be far from worry and trouble.

He is 32 years of age, 6 feet tail, slim build, with black hair and eyes and a small brown moustache. When he left home be wore a check suit, brown overcoat and black Derby hat.

Attempted Suicide of a Boy Who Loved Unwisely.

Louis Ackerman, 19 years old, took mor phine at 1212 Pine street yesterday morning. He had been in love with Cleo Eillott, a cyprian, upon whom he spent all the money he could get hold of. His infatuation had caused an estrangement with his mother, and his money being gone the woman threw him aside. He was very despondent Saturday night and threatened to kill himself. He bought some morphine and tried to take it in Carroll's saloon, Thirteenth and Pine streets, but the woman Elliott prevented this. His personal effects he had sent to a Mrs. Norris, in whose house he had roomed. After the first attempt he accompanied the Elliot woman to her home and there succeeded in taking the druz. He was hurried to the City Dispensary and from thence sent to the City Dispensary and from the company to the City Dispensary and from the company of the City Dispensary and from the company to the City Dispensary and from the company of the City Dispensary and from the city Dispensary and the city caused an estrangement with his mother, and

An Exciting Scene in a Four Courts Corridor

—A Released Defendant Creates a Disturbance—Chief Huebler to the Resue—Judge Campbell Fines the Cowhider for

A sensational scene occurred shortly before noon to-day in the corridor of the second floor of the Four Courts building just outside Judge Campbell's court-room. Mrs. Agnest O'Brien and John Cummings were before the Court on a charge of lewd and lassivious cohabitation and when their case was called the State was not ready for trial. It was the thirteenth calling of the case and Judge Campbell had informed both sides the last time it was up that he would dispose of the case when it came up to-day, and that they would both have to be ready to proceed with the trial.

The State's witnesses were called and only a few of them answered to their names. Among the absentees was Mrs. Alice Tester, the prosecuting witness, she having sworn out the information. Prosecuting Attorney Claiborne said he could not proceed with the case, and as the court had declared he would under no circumstances grant another con tinuance it would have to be

THEOWN OUT OF COURT. Judge Campbell then announced that he would dismiss the case for want of prosecution. Cummings picked up his overcoat and left the court-room by the east door, while Mrs. O'Brien and a friend, Mrs. Doestroph, departed by the west door, passing through left the court-room by the east door, while Mrs. O'Brien and a friend, Mrs. Doestroph, departed by the west door, passing through the witness room out into the hall or corridor which leads to the office of the clerk of the court and to the west staliway of the building. Charles O'Brien, the woman's husband, was in the corridor, and when she reached him she suddenly arew a cowhide from her clothes and struck him seroes the face with it. The rawhide out a gash in his right cheek and the blood began to flow freely from the wound. Without stopping to see the result of her first effort Mrs. O'Brien drew back her weapon again and once more brought it down on her husband. This she repeated about twenty times, being urged on in her work all the while by Mrs. Doestroph, who was crying out: "Give it to the brute good."

After the first blow O'Brien threw up his hands to protect his face and endeavored to hold his face and endeavored to hold his face spouse. His little son, who was with him screamed and the crowd in the witness-room and hall gathered about them. The noise was heard in the court-room and Judge Campbell ordered the deputy sheriffs to bring in the offenders. The racket was also heard downstairs in the Police Department, and CHIEF HUBBLER RUSHED UP the stalrway and was the first to reach the struggling pair. He jumped between them and wrested the cowhide from the woman, who was screaming at her husband: "You have persecuted me, you brute, and I'll make you suffer for it."

She was pale and shaking with excitement and rage. A Deputy Sheriff grabbed her and ushered her into the court-room. Mrs. Doestrophe objected, saying, "She did not give the brute half what he deserves."

The woman at first showed a disposition to take Mrs. O'Brien from the Deputy, but a threat to 'also lock her up cooled her off. When Mrs. O'Brien was brought before Judge Campbell and the case explained to him he said he would fine her $250 for contempt of court. Being income the imposed for contempt of court in the dispused for contempt of people in those places. He refused to release the woman.

THE TROUBLE between O'Brien and his wife has been going on for three years or more. He is a brother of John O'Brien, the boilermaker, and is in his employ. He married his wife a number of the years ago at Cape Girardeau, it being a runaway match, Mrs. O'Brien being a mere girl at the time. They have four children. Some years ago he broke up in business and left her. Afterward she went to Little Rock to live years ago he broke up in business and left her. Afterward she went to Little Rock to live years ago he broke up in business and left her. Afterward she went to Little Rock to live years ago he broke up in business and left her. O'Brien has had his wife arrested the years three years have been at war. Each has filled suits for divorce, but the cases were dropped. O'Brien has had his wife arrested to several charges and she has had him up for beating her. She and her friends claim he followed her most persistently. Mrs. Allce Tester, with whom Mrs. O'Brien had his wife arrested lived, sued her before Justice Ryan, and O'Brien afterward got her to take out this warrant against her and John Cummings. It was taken out on the first of last August and the case has been pending ever since. Mrs. Tester has not been present to prosecute it, and O'Brien, it is alleged, has had it continued. The deputy sheriffs were warned to day to watch she woman, but she made no attempt to assault her husband until after she got outside the court goom.

The city is being improved and populated so rapidly beyond Grand avenue directly west f the business center the demands for hotel on that thoroughfare somewhere between Laclede and Easton avenues becomes more urgent every year. The necessity for such a house has been recognized for more than five years past, and some persons who recognized the fact endeavored to meet the demand, and went so far with their enterprise as to have plans drawn in detail for a proposed structure. Several sites were suggested for such a house, but capitalists were too shy of the undertaking to put their money into it in sufficient amount to make it an assured success. At one time a site on Grand one time a site on Grand and Laclede was selected, and later on a large plot south of Cook avenue on Grand was talked of, and still later on a place on the line of the Narrow Gauge Railway, west of Vandeventer avenue, was pointed out as the spot where a million dollars was to be expended in masonry for the hotel building. Each of these enterprises fell through for the want of confidence, as stated, but the idea that a magnificent hotel is needed out that that a magnificent hotel is needed out that way, and that such an enterprise would be a paying venture has never been wholly abandoned. On the contrary many people who previously expressed doubts upon the subject advocate such an enterprise now and offer to put money into it. It is contended that the time is now ripe for the undertaking, and the fact that the Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York was relatively much farther from the commercial center of the metropolis, when that structure was built, then Grand avenue is from Broadway in this city reassures that such a house in St. Louis would prove to be a paying investment from the start. There has been a wonderful development in the West End during the past five years, so much so in fact that it is often remarked that the handsomely improved corners of Grand avenue and Olive streat, when illuminated at night, present a metropolitan scene which would do credit to any of the largest cities.

The cable lines and several streat railways run in close proximity on their way out from the business section. One cable crosses at Easton avenue, one at Morgan street, another at Olive, and then there are horse-car lines between them. These means of rapid and convenient transit, and the costly and improving character of improvements in the vicinity are attracting attention to that quarter more than ever as the location above all others for a splendid hotel.

there it runs 100 feet from Grand avenue, from there it runs 100 feet north, thence 400 feet west to the rear line, which is 155 feet long. Mr. Kaime says he purchased nearly as much more contiguous ground on the south, paying $25,000 for the whole of it in 1864. Since then he has sold off from $75,000 to $100,000 worth of it, leaving the ground described yet intact. The residence erected upon it was built at an expense of $50,000, and is one of the best and most richly appointed houses in the city. Mr. Kaime has lived there for four years past. He estimates the value of the property as $500,000, and is free to say that if the parties now talking about taking his place do not take it they or some one else will secure some other site not far from there before long, for the time has come when the city needs a fine hotel out that way. With the present system of cable and electric roads and spiendidly-pared streets, it is no more trouble or inconvenience for guests to reach a hotel out there than it is to go to those down town, and the location is so far preferable, he anticipates that a fine hotel will be built there soon. Mr. Lil Mo-Nair has been giving considerable attention to the negotiations, but he has gone to New York, presumably upon that special business.

CHURCHES AND CREEDS.

IMPERFECTIONS IN DOCTRINAL MATTERS WHICH NEED REVISION.

Rev. Waldo Nessaros—Its Anthority Among Churchmen Waning—Dr. New-ten's Sermon—The Pope's Advice to the Catholics of America. Fallicing Tour Catholies of America-Beligious Topies.

UCH interest was ouncement that the would preach on at the Free Baptist street, yesterday morning. The text was taken from Matthew xviii., 10: despise not one of these little ones, for

I say unto you that in heaven their angels do gregation. After the singing of "Children of always behold the face of my Father which is the Heavenly King," Bishop Granberry led ing that he had no prejudices against the vast body of Presbyterians or against any individuals who subscribed to the Westminster Confession of Faith. They had, however, ignored portions of their creed and had not hed, nor did many of them believe all its statements. Every creed of the Christian Church lays itself open to revision from time to time, for a creed is never a finality, but lief of a sect at some period in its history, and usually a compromise between the radi-cal and liberal opinions of the parcreating it. The Calvinistic doctrine of "infant damnation," asid Mr. Messaros, "is contrary to God's nature, majesty, love, instice and mercy. I welcome the agitation and debate over the revision of the Confession of Faith. It is of great advantage to all. Every creed with an imperfection is a breach in the wall, through which the entire body of Christians may be assailed by their enemies. If Presbyterians believe their creed let them preach it. If they don't believe it let them get out and preach what they do believe. If they stand on the Confession of Faith they should preach that Jesus of Nazareth is a curse, who came on earth not to call sinners to repentance and salvation. Let others believe what they will, but for me I can trust my children with God."

The Westminster Confession of Faith,

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCHL NEW YORK, Feb. 10 .- The choir of All Souls' Church on Madison avenue appeared yester day morning for the first time in surplice day morning for the first time in surplices. Several weeks ago Dr. Newton announced that it was desired to make this change for the sake of adding dignity and impressiveness to the service, and last Sunday he gave notice that no objection having been raised it would be carried into effect. Dr. Newton's sermon dealt with the movement for the revision of the Westminster Confession. No creed, however perfect, can see more than an expression of the religious fath and metaphysical speculation of the age in which it was framed. At the time when the Westminster confession was compiled there was not a prison in Europe which had for its object aught beyond mere punishment, the avenging of society on the offender and the consequent deterrent effect on others. The hell of the Calvinists was no more than the logical development of the prisons of the time.

"Now," said the prescher, "if I had to point to an instance in which the spirit of Christ has most thoroughly permeated our institutions I would point to the reformatory and humanizing work which is being estried on in our prisons. If we attempt to successfully reclaim our fallen fellow creatures what right have we to say to God as in effect said in the Calviniste creed, "Thou canst not redeem Thy lost ones?" The recognition of the love of God as the essential feature of Christianity is gaining ground even in Presbyterian Churches. Whether or not the Westminister confession is revised, its authority, in its present form, is waning fast. Its doom is inevitable. It cannot be long delayed and the spirit of Jesus Christ has judged it."

Dr. Newton even content the surface of the next surface to the spirit of Jesus Christ has judged it." Several weeks ago Dr. Newton announced that Christ has judged it." Dr. Newton announce ist has judged it."

Newton announced that next Sunday he ld treat of the Roman Catholic centennial say something of the future of that reh in this country.

The Pope's Letter.

day, if the laws of the State "are in open tradiction of the divine law," says Leo "If they command anything prejudical to the church or are hostlie to the duties imposed by religion or violate in the person of the Supreme Pontiff the authority of Jesus Christ, then it is indeed a duty to resist them and a orime to obey them—a crime fraught with injury to the State itself. For every offense against religion recoils on the State. To love the two fatherlands, the earthly and the heavenly, but in such a manner that the love of the heavenly country prevails oger that of the other and that human iaws are not preferred to the law of God—such is the essential duty of Christians from which spring, as from their source, all the other duties."

An extended restatement of the claims of the Roman Church to infallibility in matters of faith follows. Lee says that the administration of church government is difficult and gives rise to numerous conflicts. "For the church rule; seeple scattered throughout all parts of the world," he adds, "different in race, in manners, each of which peoples, inasmuch as they are subject to their own national laws, owe obsdience at once to the civil and the religious power."

The Church approves of all Governments that respect religion and the divine law is indifferent to parties and, according to the Pope, "To seek to engage the church in the quarrels and to attempt to make use of its support to triumph more easily over adversaries, is to commit an indiscreet abuse of religion." imposed by religion or violate in the person support to triumph more easily over adversaries, is to commit an indiscreet abuse of religion."

The Pope believes, however, and so advises, that "in politics, which are inseparably bound up with the laws of morality and religions duties, men ought always and in the first place to take care to serve the interest of Catholicism. As soon as these interests are seen to be in danger, all differences should cease between them, so that, united in the same thoughts and the same designs, they may undertake the protection and detense of religion, the common and great end to which all things should be referred."

The Pope says two things are to be avoided false prudence and temerity—and he has nothing but words of condemnation for those who would shirk the duties he outlines under the plea that it we had not be politic to "resistinguity lest we transperate the enemy." On the other hand, he warms over-zealous men to do things of their own motion.

'It is a duty assigned to the church by God," continues the encyclical, "to offer opposition whenever the laws of the State Injure religion, and to endeavor earnestly to infuse the spirit of the gospei into the laws and institutions of peoples. And since the face of States depends principally on those at the head of the Government, the church cannot grant its patronage or favor to men whom it knows to be hostile to it, who openly refuse to respect its rights, who seek to creak the alliance established by the nature of things between religious interests and the interests of the civil order. On the contrary it is its duty to favor those who, having sound ideas as to the religious of the rule according to whom well and their order. On the contrary it is its duty to favor those who, having sound ideas as to the religious interests and the interests of the civil order. On the contrary it is its duty to favor those who, having sound ideas as to the religious interests and the interests of the civil order. On the contrary it is its duty to avort those who, having sound ideas as to the ought to be supported, and there can be no case in which it would be termissible to prefer to them men who are hostile to religion. "A reference which may be considered to have a local application is that in which the Pope declares that the clergy and laty should live in direct union with the bishops, and that if any one of the clergy or laity 'should lay himself open to criticism, either in his conduct or in the opinions he maintains, it does not belong to any individual to arrogate to himself in his own regard the office of Judgs. "The actions of a superior ought not to be struck at with the sword of speech, even when they appear to merit a just censure," as St. Gregory the Great has said."

BISHOP BOWMAN'S HALF-CENTURY. Celebration of the Fiftieth Ashiversary of

The Union Methodist Church had a very large congregation yesterday afternoon for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of Bishop Bowman to the minletry. Bishop Granberry of the Methodist Episcopal Church South occupied a seat in the pulpit, and there were representatives from all denominations in the city among the congregation. After the singing of "Children of the Heavenly King," Bishop Granberry lead in prayer, asking that many years of usefulness in the ministerial field might still be in store for his colleague. Mr. Jacoby of the German Church read the first lesson, and after the sluging of another hymn Mr. Maxden, the pastor of the church, read a telegram of regret from Gov. Francis. Bishop Bowman then followed with a sermon, taking his text from the Forty-fourth Psaim: "O, magnity the Lord in me, and let us exalt his name together." His remarks were at seme length, and in favor of moral and material progress. Referring to the circumstances which caused him to adopt the ministry as a vocation, he said one of his earliest advisers had been ex-Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania. He felt thankful for those circumstances, and could appropriately call on all lovers of God to Join with him. There were many denominations, but they were all working to one end. He had, he said, first concluded to study law, but having had his mistake pointed out, changed to the ministry. He had never agked for an appointment, but had accepted those that came to him, performing his duty to his best ability. Since entering the ministry he had dedicated churches in every state in the Union. He had seen the country in crease in population from 17,000,000 to 60,000.

O. Skepticlsm and infidelity had been rank, and had been assisted by the public press, but the press was not to blame, us it slimply reflected public sentiment, and the obstacles it, placed in the way had been overcome. Morality and spirituality had increased. Christian education had also increased, and the increase in the number of Method ists had been greater than the increase in population. Bishop Bowman gave other Interesting statistics, and his address was listened to with marked attention.

"SOMETHING ABOUT ST. LOUIS.

Rev. Dr. Sonneschein had a large audience at Tempie Israel yesterday morning. The subject of his address was "Something About St. Louis." The old adage, "God made the country, man the city," he said, found its best explanation in the fact that the country, like its maker, is the same, while the city, like its maker man, is shifting, changing and whimsical. There are, he said, four main arteries, the commercial, educational, social and religious, and the city that combines all in one was the ideal city. St. Louis, he thought, was approaching this. Some might say it was a big village, but it was the good fortune of St. Louis to retain that natural spontaneity and unvarnished hospitality which the villager niways exhibits.

In the afternoon Dr. Sonnesohein spoke on "Antique and Modern Crowned Emperor of Rev. F. L. Higgins spoke on "Vicarious nent vs. Regeneration' at the Sweden orgian Chapel last evening. He spoke at onsiderable length, holding that the doctrine considerable length, holding that the doctrine of vicarious atonement, as taught in the ma-jority of the Christian churches, is diametri-cally opposed to the doctrine of regeneration as set forth by the Lord, quoting scriptural passages in his argument.

MORMON AND GENTILE.

ISSUES INVOLVED IN TO-DAY'S ELECTION AT SALT LAKE CITY.

Beginning of the End of Polygamy in Utah—What the Leaders Say of the Contest—The Mormons Will Make a Strong Fight for Success—Officers to Be Elected.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 10.-The municipal lection to-day is for Mayor, Recorder, Treas urer, Assessor and Collector and Marshal of Salt Lake City. Also for three councilmen and one justice of the peace for each of the five precincts of the city. The whole ticket is to be elected at large. Some confusion has arisen over the application of a law passed at the last session of the Legislature in relation to municipal organizations and elections.

The old law provided for five aldermen and nine councilors elected at large to compose the City Council. The new law provides for three councilmen and one justice of the peace to be elected in each precinct. Previous to the Ogden election, year ago, the Federal Court here decided that election should be conducted under the old law, but as to this one the court decides that it must be conducted under certain provisions of the new law. A fragment of each enactment will then govern, and it is not unlikely that litigation will follow after the election, no matter which ticket wins the day.

THE CONTESTING PARTIES. There are two parties in the fleid-the "People's party," composed chiefly of Mormons, and the "Liberal party." made up of anti-Mormons. "The issues involved in to-day's contest," said P. H. Lannon, proprietor of the Sait Lake Tribune, "are the government of the city and the pearing which the result of the election will have on the Territory at large. Salt Lake City was founded in 1847 and covers about fifteen square miles of territory with an estimated population of 50,000. To-day not one square foot of street payement has been laid on one street and not s square foot of sidewalk has been laid except by private enterprise. There is no police protection outside of one or two streets. The Mormon record of forty years is a history of inefficiency which exists nowhere else in this country. If the Gentiles are successful it will place the city in harmony with national law and authority. It is recognized that the city has a great influence in that the city has a great inhuence in the Territory and consequently the issue is a national one. Gentile success will mean that the redemption of Utah is slowly but surely being accomplished." Mr. W. B. Dougall, Superintendent of the Deseret Telegraph Co. and a prominent Mor-mon, gives the other side of the question. He says:

mou, gives the other side of the question. He says:

"The People's party represents the menand women who have built up the Territory and maintained from the beginning honest and economical government with low taxes, smail official salaries and avoidance of big bonded debt. Conservative progress has been its policy and the diffusion rather than the concentration of wealth its aim and practice. The Liberal party represents the speculative and pushing elements that have rushed in here with the prospects of a boom and the antagonistic forces which desire to break the old organization with a view to inaugurating as area of high taxation, layish expenditure for public improvements, involving bonded indebtedness and opening the way for official profits similar to the methods adopted in the great centers of trade. They have brought about the legislation which has deprived many of the older citizens of the franchise and they are working for the disfranchisement of every Mormon in the Territory with a view to capturing the entire local government. They openly ayow their intention to work for Congressional Mormon in the Territory with a view to capturing the entire local government. They openly avow their intention to work for Congressional legislation which will deprive every member of the Mormon Church of the right to vote, hold office or obtain titles to public lands. Success in this election will embolden them to proceed to the extremity of their avowed intentions.
That is why this municipal election is likely to be far reaching in its effects. It has no bearing, however, on the question of polygamy. Only monogamists can vote and they must subscribe to an oath that they will not violate the anti-polygamy laws of Congress. the German Lutheran Churches of the city, was dedicated yesterday, in services held at the Trinity Lutheran Church. Fifty-five Callers at His Honor's Court This Morning. Judge Charles F. Cady held his regular Monday morning reception in the First Dis-trict Police Court. He had fifty-five callers Monday morning reception in the First District Police Court. He had fifty-five callers and several of them will remain the guests of the court for some time to come. Among those who will partake of the hospitality of the court for awhile are William Connors and Wm. Quafte. Both have well-cut features, and their looks attracted considerable attention when they made their appearance in court. Connor's left cheek was adorned by a huge piece of white sticking-plaster, and his left eye, which was a deep plum-color, was entirely closed. The piece of plaster covered an ugly gash, and there were other cuts visible on the man's face. Qualife's right eye had a black-and-blue hue and his entire face was a mass of scratches and slight outs. The two men visited a saloon at 200 North Seventh street Saturday night and became saturated with 5-cent fighting whisky. When Qualfe had downed enough of the fluid and it had downed him, he sprang on Connors and fastened his teeth in the latter's cheek, Both men were thrown out of the saloon into the alley and were fighting it out there in the presence of about one hundred and fity people when Sergt. O'Mailey put in an appearance and stopped the hostilities. Both men were locked up and counter charges of disturbing the peace placed against them, but not until Connor's injury had been dressed at the City Dispensary, Qualfe having bit a huge piece almost entirely out of his cheek. Judge Cady this morning fined Qualfe 525 and Connors Sle, and both will remain guests of the city at the Work-house for a while.

Charles F. Gallagher, a big strapping fellow, was up on a charge of Idling. He entered a plea of guilty and asked for hours, but Officer hyan explained that the police expected to be able to make a case of burglary against Gallagher. We have since learned that a friend of his toid a woman living on Almond arrest that if Gallagher squeaked on him he would kill him. The two are supposed of having burglarized the place and that is why Gallagher was so willing to plead guilty and take ho and several of them will remain the guests of Henry Williams, a negro with considerably more muscle than character, was up on two charges of disturbing the peace. Wilson Barrett in "Claudian" This Evening

-Other Opening Bills. Wilson Barrett, Miss Eastlake, George Bar cempany arrived from Chicago last night. to-night in "Claudian," a sketch of which play, with the cast for this evening, was printed yesterday. The house promises to be a very large one.

"Herminie," the romantic drama in which William Redmund and Mrs. Thomas Barry are starring, was given for the first time yesterday atternoon at the Grand Opera-house. It had a fair house at the matinee and a larger one in the evening. The play is a good one, but it is hard to see how, it deserves all the encomiums heaped upon it by the New York critics. The company is also good. Mr. Redmund is an actor of much versatility and is clever in everything that he does. The belief of the audience in regard to Mrs. Barry was that she was not vigorous enough in her acting in the exciting scenes in which she figured. She is apparently too quiet, not showing sufficient animation. This may be an unfair criticism, however, because what is compilaired of may be due to fatigue at yesterday's performance. Sunday matiness are an outrage on actors and actresses. A company which plays into Saturday night travels sometimes until noon on Sunday to reach the next stand and then has to appear upon the stage at 2 p. m., cannot be expected to show that strength and vigor which might have been demanded from those who have had sufficient regt. It is therefore only fair to say that the chances are that there may be less ground for adverse criticism at this evening's performance. The rest of the company was fair. George W. Neville gave a good portraiture of a faithful servant, and Miss Dolly Kline, a pretty little actress, as Estelle, was splendidly received by the audience, and deserved all that was done for her. Barry, as Germaine, an adventuress, was good, as was also W. R. Ogden as Victor Durand. The plot of "Herminie," as printed yesterday shows that it is a field for good work, and the company will get it out of it during the week.

work, and the company will get it out of it during the week.

Hanlon's "New Fantasma" opened a week at Pope's yesterday atternoon under adverse circumstances, but everything went smoothly, and so far as the public could tell there was nothing unusual. There was, however, as the company has four cases of la grippe which have developed to the dangerous period. The machinist, a most important individual, has been off several days, and yesterday even the second machinist was unable to work. The whole company turned machinists, and they worked with such a will that there was not a single hitch or any delay. The house was a crowded to its full standing room capacity, and the audience was a genuinely delighted one. The entertainment is better than ever; the mechanical surprises and illusions were intricate. One of these is a decapitation scene, in which a man is beheaded and dismembered. The scene is the idea of the Hanlons, and is patented by them. Some striking noveity had become necessary, and Mr. George Hanlon went to Europe last year to find one, but did not succeed. Of necessity they then began to invent, and the decapitation illusion is the result. To the imagination the scene is one of the most harrowing description, as it would be in the drams, but in "Fantasma," with all its funny business, there is nothing horrible about it, and the only trouble is that the man's head cannot be cut off a second time for an encore. There are several other new features about the entrainment, and the company is withal a very clever one. Little Tootsey has grown some in a year, but he is a very cuts little fellow still, and has some good songs and dances. The Le Fre brothers, as the imps, do some splendid work. Miss Rose Forte as Fantsma, Miss Emily Northrop as Serena, and Miss Ida Maussey as Lena, all do well. Louis Pizzarelle as Pleo is very entertaining. The new "Fantasma" runs through the week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Pizzarelle as Fleo is very entertaining. The new "Fantasma" runs through the week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The People's has a splendidly mounted play this week, with some clever acting. It is "The Suspect," a play of the Franco-Prussian war period, by Louis Nathal. It abounds in thrilling incidents and scenes, and has in it mapy elements of popularity, but to make it a saccess it should be trimmed down, and the long and tedious speeches cut out. Its opening at the People's yesterday was greeted by a large upper house, but a rather small lower one for a Sunday performance. The special attraction about the performance was the appearance of Miss Seligman, ayoung lady who has many friends in St. Louis, as Gilberte, the heroine. Miss Seligman is an actress of the passionate, emotional school, and displays much strength and ability. She is, however, slightly weighted by the length of some of her lines. The Duke de Presies, the suspect, is charged with having betrayed the French army, and given its plans of battle to the enemy. Condemnation and death are certain, and to escape he feigns death and later enters the army as a private soldier, Gaspard Simon. Gilberte, who loves him devotedly, contrives to protect him at all hazards. In the presence of the soldiers and officers she manages to notify him of a pending investigation. He recognizes her meaning and again escapes. The real villain is finally discovered and the play ends happily. Leading up to this, however, are many thrilling incidents. To protect the mary the Commissioner of Public Safety within three days. De Presies returns, accuss her of being unfaithful and a remarkably strong scene follows, id which Miss Seligman does some splendid emotional acting. Mr. Henry Lee, as de Presies, also has a strong character, and presents it in a very creditable manner. The others of the company are equal to the demands made upon them. "The Supper' continues through the week, with

Wednesday and Saturday matineses.

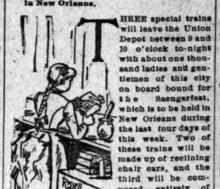

This will be the children's week of the season at the Standard. The attraction is Nick Roberts' 'Humpty Dumpty,' and it had a crowded house for its openincy esterday afternoon. It is the same old 'Humpty Dumpty,' with some changes and some new features, but it is as amusing as eyer, and is in the hands of entireiv capable people. The clowns, Grimaidi, Dromio and Pedro, are without auperiors in their line, and without effort, they keep the audience in laughter during all the time they are on the stage. They are particularly pleasing to the little folks, and this part of the audience is not slow in evidencing its appreciation. 'Humpty Dumpty' runs through the week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

This morning the New York Ideal Comedy Co., which has been recently organized in St. Louis, left for Alson, Ill., where, after a week's rehearsal, the company will commence making the rural circuit. The company consists of Edwin Eiroy, Guy Woodward, comedian, Frank De Frayne, H. E. Davis, Fred Thomas, Mrs. Edwin Eiroy, Miss Jennie Kempahali and Miss Bessie Claire. long link of coaches will go through to New Orleans, a distance of 700 miles without change. As the excursionists have ten hours to spare between lesving this city and arriv ing in New Orleans, it has been arranged to spend several hours at points of interest along the route. All along the line the Committee on Arrangements have sent men to the various eating places to contract for supplies for 500 persons or over, and has thus provided against want in the matter of food. Besides this there will be ample pro-visions on the train, both solid and liquid, for those who will not get off for meals. In the crowd of 1,000 excursionists there will be

DAUGHTERS OF THE SINGERS who are going to the Crescent City to attend the Saengerfest and Mardi Gras celebration which takes place next week. As a rule, the scene in a sleeping car at night where a crowd of men are going to attend a convention or saengerfest is beyond description. Such things as every man in the car looking for his that may be selected as its site. For a week clothes or selecting shoes that are not mates or two the delegation from this city has declothes or selecting shoes that are not mates from a pile on the floor, are not uncommon on excursions of the kind mentioned, and it is to prevent such catastrophies that the ladies weres prinkled in. The hour for leaving the depot was selected with a view of escaping the noise and bustle of the earlier part of the evening. When once away there will be no hitch and Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock the three trains will pull into the Canal street Depot in New Orleans. There a large redeption committee with bands of music and carriages will receive the St. Louis delegation and conduct the singers to the various headquarters already assigned to them. The St. Louis societies will have quarters as follows:

Orienns will give a reception and supper to the St. Louis Orphens Society for old acquaintance sake and because they are "name-sakes."

The event of the Saengerfest in New Orienns as it is at every meeting of the members of the North American Saengerbund, will be the presentation of the "Bund" flag. The flag is quite old, and cost several thousand dollars. It is looked upon with great reverence by all the members, and it is one of the properties of the North American Saenger Bund which holds that great body together. Some of the members have such a reverence for it that they lift their hats as it passes by. At every Saengerfest there is a friendly fight to see who shall carry the flag, and often the society has been offered large sums of money for a charity, if the bidder would be allowed to carry the silken banner. Mr. Leofedd Methudy being President of the Saengerfest, has this flag in his custody. Prof. Herman of New Orieans has been elected President, and on the second day the flag will be presented to him. President Methudy has appointed a guard of hodor to watch over the flag in transit from this city to New Orieans. This guard will be brilliantly uniformed and they are the envied of all the Saengerfest members.

He Is Found in a Hardware Store and Makes Game of Two Patrolmen.

Patrolman Todt found Otto Huber, aged 18 years, in the hardware store of Heinson & Son, Fourth street and Franklin avenue, last night. The boy had climbed over a door through a transom into the store and was filling his pockets with knives, was filling his pockets with knives, when seen by the passing patrolman. He told the patrolman his name was Eads, that he had been put in there by his brother—who owned the store—as night watchman and that he lived at Fifteenth and Morgan streets. Todt was suspicious, and calling another patrolman to watch the store he went to Fifteenth and Morgan streets, but found no one of the name of Eads living in the vicinity. He returned and the boy, still cool and resource-ful, told him he had mistaken the address—he had said 1725 Morgan atreet. Todt went there and found the Huber family living lare. He took the boy's father to the store, and the young robber was identified. He was taken out through the transom and locked up.

Bowen and Johnson Fight to a Draw.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 10 .- A hard fight which resulted in a draw took place yesterday hetween Andy Bowen, who has challenged Billy Myer, and a man who says he is Charles between Andy Bowen, who has challenged Billy Myer, and a man who says he is Charles Johnson, of Minneapolls, but who is supposed to be Jimmy Cellins of St. Louis. Bowen caught the grip lest Wednesday and was married on the same day. He came here Saturday afternoon with a bigh fever and remained in bed until the hour for the fight. Johnson was in perfect condition. Bowen's backers wanted to forfeit the stakes, but he refused to consent and said the fight must go on if there was not a cent in it. All the money that was up was $100 a side and the gate receipts, which, though there were 200 people present, only amounted to $16. George Queen, leader of the Newsboys' Band, and a brother of Queen the minstrel, was shosen referee and made a good one.

Bowen started to rushing from the first and knocked Johnson down three times in the first round, but exnausted his strength and after that could only rush at intervals, and he did that in disobedience of his second's command. There was hard fighting until the sixth round, when Bowen cut his eye and lip on a stake and it swelled badly, but he used it freely.

After this the fighting was light. Johnson would not lead though Brown offered him money to do so. He simply watted for Bowen to lead and then relied on upper cuts.

At the end of the forty-third round the men were told to shake hands and quit. Bowen to lead and then relied on upper cuts.

At the end of the forty-third round the men were told to shake hands and quit. Bowen to lead and then relied and the fight was declared a draw. Each man got $8 as his share of the gate money, but Bowen's backers gave him the $100 they had put up.

Bowen weighed more for he is a head taller than Bowen. Considering Bowen's condition he did wonderful fighting. His friends say they will back him against any 134 pound man in the country.

New Interpretation of Iowa Prohibitory Liquor Law.

DES MOINES, Ic., Feb. 10 .- The Iowa Su preme Court has passed upon a case appealed rom Cass County which puts an interpretation upon one phase of the prohibitory liquor law not heretofore construed. The defendants dispensed cider and a drink known as "B.B." as a beverage to thirsty customers and held a United States internal revenue license to protect them in their sales, but claimed the beverages were not intoxicating. The court holds that the law makes the fact of a Government license in one's possession prims facte evidence of intent to violate the State law, except in cases of registered pharmacists, and as the defendants in this case did not come under that class, the judgment of conviction is affirmed. ts dispensed older and a drink known as

She Attacks a Woman on the Street While Walking With Her Husband—The Fight and Subsequent Chase, Ending With the Report of a Badly-Almed Revolver— The Woman's Story.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10 .- "This is the last time you ever will go with my husband," ex-citedly exclaimed a handsomely dressed young woman, hardly 20 years old, as she stepped in front of a stylishly dressed young blonds, accompanied by a handsome man, or avenue, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday. Her large jet black eyes snapped with fire and her face trembled with passion. She threw herself upon the other woman with frenzy, tore her hair, scratched her face and bore her to the ground. In a minute the blonde's face was a piteous sight. Her hat was gone and her lothing was torn. The man, after a hard struggle, pulled the maddened woman from victim. The latter jumped to her feel and with her long golden hair streaming wildly down her back, ran into the middle o the street screaming: ''For God's same don't

Then down the steps to the tunnel of the Fourth Avenue surface railroad she went. Her assailant broke from the man's grasp and followed her and going down the steps drew s revolver from her breast. Taking deliberate aim she fired two shots and sank exhausted upon the stone steps. The other woman, al though neither of the bullets struck her, fell unconscious to the ground. As "the shots were fired Harry Mount, the well known Wall street broker, who lives at No. 147 West Thirty-fifth street, and who had just left an panied by Miss Maud White, started to go up the steps. One of the bullets passed through his silk hat, about an inch above the top of his head. He shouted, and Miss White, thinking he had shouted, and Miss White, thinking he had been wounded, fell in a faint. A crowd gathered. The woman who was attacked recovered and made her way to the street. The young man devoted his attention to the assailant, and as soon as she was able to walk got her in an up-town car, despite the interference of spectators. Mr. Mount secured a cab and took Miss White to her home, where she was prostrated irom nervous excitement. At the Grand Union Hotel the assailant and the man left the car and got into a cab. They told the driver to convey them to 356 West One Hundred and Sixth street. The woman was Mrs. Neilie G. Crane, and the young man was her husband, H. L. Crane. The counle were married in Chicago six weeks ago and came here on their wedding tour. Mrs. Crane is the daughter of Samuel G. C. Gleason, said to be wealthy. He lives at No. 236 State street, Chicago. The young couple had hired furnished rooms in One Hundreth and Sixth street. T. F. Owens' Body Found Decemposing in a Tenement House. Thomas Francis Owens, a carpenter, who had long been estranged from his family , die -probably-on Thursday. He occupied a room on the second floor of 1426 North Ninth street. Yesterday, on account of the vile odor coming from the room, an investigation was made, and his decomposing body was was made, and his decomposing body was found lying on the bed. He had lived there for three years and had refused to know his neighbors. They had not been able to learn his name. On a slip of paper found in the room was the name of T. N. Geyer, 1810 North Ninth street. Mr. Geyer was called upon. He identified the dead man, who was his father-in-law. Mr. Owens left his wife and family of one son and three daughters twenty years ago, and though living in the city, always refused to have much to do with them. He owned a farm in Jefferson County from which he received a good rent; but he worked as a carpenter whenever there was work to be had.

His son-in-law, Mr. Geyer, took charge of the remains.

Cancer of the Nose. In 1875 a sore appeared on my nose, and grew rapidly. As my father had cancer, and my husband died of it, I became alarmed, and consulted my physician. His treatment did no good, and the sore grew larger and worse in every way, until I had concluded that I was to die from its effects. I was persuaded to take 8.8.8., and a few bottles cured me. This was after all the doctors and other medicines had failed. I have had no return of the cancer.
